

PROCEDURES FOR SCORING WRITING SAMPLES
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA – RIPM PROGRESS MONITORING STUDY

1. Read the entire sample before proceeding with scoring.
2. Mark in red where the student has made a slash to indicate time (grades 3 & 5 should have ONE slash mark per writing sample; grade 9 should have two).
3. Count the total number of words written (WW).
4. Place a vertical line at the place where each sentence should end; you may have to judge where the sentence should end.
5. Underline words that are spelled incorrectly.
6. Count the total number of incorrectly spelled words (ISW).
7. Underline incorrect words in red (words that are spelled incorrectly or that are grammatically incorrect or used incorrectly).
8. Count the total number of incorrect words (IW).
9. Score the passage for correct and incorrect word sequences using the following definition developed by Videen, Deno, & Marston, 1982:
 - a. A correct word sequence is one that contains any two adjacent, correctly spelled words that are acceptable within the context of the sample to a native speaker of the English language.
 - b. The term “acceptable” means that a native speaker would judge the word sequences as syntactically and semantically correct.
10. Use the carat method for scoring. Place a carat above two words if it represents a correct word sequence, and below the words if it represents an incorrect sequence. Score incorrect sequences first using a red pencil below the line. Count incorrect sequences (IWS). Then score correct sequences (CWS) with a blue pencil above the line. Count correct sequences.
11. Score a correct word sequence at the beginning of the sentence if the first word is capitalized and the word is spelled correctly. Score a correct sequence at the end of the sentence if the last word is spelled correctly, and the student uses correct end punctuation.

RULES FOR SCORING CORRECT WORD SEQUENCES

1. CAPITALIZATION AND PUNCTUATION

- a. Pay attention only to capitalization at the beginning of the sentence and capitalization of proper names, places, etc. If a word is not capitalized at the beginning of the sentence, there is one wrong sequence. If the word is not capitalized and not spelled correctly, it is two wrong sequences.

Examples:

she went to the store. AND shee went to the store.

I hate minnesota when it is cold.

10/4/05 update: for passage copying, a word not capitalized at the beginning of the sentence would have been underlined (in step 6) and, for step 12, would count as two incorrect sequences.*

Passage copying example:

she went to the store.

10/4/05 update: for passage copying, a missing punctuation mark would have a vertical line drawn in (from step 5) and, for steps 11 and 12, would count as two incorrect sequences.*

Passage copying example:

The wolf saw the house that the pig built he rang the doorbell.

- b. Assign a correct sequence for a sensible beginning of a sentence. That is, a blank followed by a sensible sentence beginning. This first word of the sentence must be capitalized.
- c. Do not accept and, but, or then as correct words at the beginning of a sentence.

Example:

And I didn't clean my room either.

The only exception to this rule is the first sentence in the story, since the students have been given a story starter. They may just be finishing the sentence.

Example: The story starter was: It was a dark and stormy night... and the student writes as the first sentence to the story: and I had just gone to bed.

- d. Ignore capitalization of words within a sentence. If a student writes in all capitals or if a student writes some letters as capitals, ignore it.
- Example:* She wenT To the stoRe.
- e. The word I must be capitalized.
- f. For writing prompts: Assign a correct sequence for a sensible ending to the sentence and correct punctuation. Count only end punctuation. Ignore all other punctuation in the middle of the sentence (comas, quotes, etc.). The only exception to this rule is an apostrophe, because a missing apostrophe would make the word an incorrectly spelled word (dont). For passage copying: assign correct/incorrect sequences for all punctuation according to the original passage.

2. MISSPELLED WORDS

- a. The sequence before and after the misspelled word is incorrect.

Example: I liked scool today.

- b. Compound words that are written as two words are counted as 3 incorrect sequences.

Example: I didn't do my home work yesterday.

- c. Children often make up names in their stories, or use unfamiliar names. In general, do not count a proper name as misspelled unless it's obvious that it is incorrect (like spelling Sue incorrectly: Seu or misspelling a name that was spelled differently earlier in the passage).

3. SENTENCE STRUCTURE

a. Run-On Sentences

- i) If the sentence is a run-on sentence, the scorer must decide where the sensible ending to the sentence is. Place a vertical line at this point.
- ii) If a run-on sentence is connected by conjunctions, the scorer must determine where to break the sentence apart. As a general rule, allow only one or two conjunctions per sentence. Cross out extra conjunctions and mark the end of the sentence. This rule does not refer to a list of things connected by the word and. I want a book and a pencil and a piece of paper is correct.
- iii) In a run-on sentence, do not give credit for end punctuation or for capitalizing the beginning of the next sentence.

Example:

She went to the store and asked for bread and looked at books and went home.

- b. Word Order Reversed -- If a student reverses the order of two words, there are three incorrect sequences. They often do this when embedding a question in a sentence.

Example:

I was thinking about what would my friend say.

Or think of it as needing to omit the word would and then put it after the word friend:

I was thinking about what my friend say would.

- c. Omitted Words -- One wrong sequence for an omitted word or words.

Example:

I checked every room if lights were on. (to see was omitted).

- d. Added Words -- Sometimes students use words incorrectly and it is difficult to tell how to best score the sentence. In many cases, one word can be deleted to make a coherent sentence. This word should be marked wrong, just as a misspelled word is.

Example:

I thought since I wanted to be home as soon as possible because it was storming. (If since is removed, the sentence is okay.)

e. Sentence Fragments

- i) There are two types of sentence fragments. In one, students place end punctuation in the middle of two phrases that should be connected together. In such cases, the end of the first sentence and beginning of the next sentence is marked wrong.

Example:

When I came home. The door was open.

- ii) In the second type, there is just one fragment by itself. In such a case, either the beginning of the sentence or the end punctuation is marked wrong.

Example (think of it like the words “They wear” have been omitted from the beginning of the sentence):

The kids at school wear all types of clothes. Baggy, cotton clothes like Levis.

f. Repeated Phrase

- i) The repeated part is marked wrong.

Example:

When I saw the old buildings and the old buildings and the ghost, I ran home.

4. GRAMMARa. Wrong tense

First we went home and then we go to the store.

b. Number

We had three car.

c. Case

Me and Joe went to the store.

d. Possessive

My mothers house is on that street.

e. Word Choice

I am the only one that is here.

5. MISCELLANEOUS

- Slang words, such as gonna, yeah, kinda, are okay in dialogue only.
- Count numbers, dates, and amounts as correct word.
- Count “&” as one correct word.
- Count hyphenated words as 1 word.
- All of a sudden*, all of the sudden, and all the sudden are all ok.
- A lot* is 2 words, not 1.
- Lunchroom* is 1 word, not 2.
- Gray* and grey are both okay; t-shirts, teeshirts, and t shirts are okay and counted as 1 word.
- Like* in the middle of the sentence is wrong. He wore like a t-shirt.
- Abbreviations are ok (min., hr., lb., etc.)
